

Do We Need an International Law of Ecocide?

Public Lecture - Thursday 13th March, 6.15pm for 6.30pm start

University of New South Wales, Sydney - Kensington Campus, Building F10, Room M17

Join us for a cutting edge lecture for the public and the legal profession - co-hosted by the Australian Earth Laws Alliance (AELA) and the University of New South Wales (UNSW) Law School.

GUEST SPEAKER - POLLY HIGGINS

Polly Higgins is a UK Barrister and author of Eradicating Ecocide and Earth is Our Business. Her focus of enquiry is on leadership crime. The plight of our time, she believes, is the abject failure of leadership and the lack of a (legal) duty of care for the Earth. Much of her time is spent speaking and advising on an international law of Ecocide - for more information about Polly's work, please visit www.eradicatingecocide.com

CO-CHAIRS

- Jules Livingstone, NSW Coordinator, Australian Earth Laws Alliance
- Professor Bronwen Morgan, UNSW Law School

VENUE DETAILS

The lecture is being held in the UNSW Chemistry Building, which is next door to the Law School (Building F10, Room M17). The best point of access is via Anzac Parade. For a copy of the campus map and details about parking or how to get to the UNSW via public transport, please visit the UNSW website: <http://www.chemistry.unsw.edu.au/our-school/about-our-school/location-campus>.

HOW TO BOOK YOUR PLACE

This lecture is free but bookings are essential. Gold coin donations are invited at the door. Please book your place by visiting our online booking system - <http://www.trybooking.com/ELFS>
For more information, please visit AELA's website: www.earthlaws.org.au/events/polly-higgins

